

Some food for thought ...

How do our personal food choices impact our health, the environment, the economy, local hunger and world hunger?

How does public food policy impact our health, the environment, the economy, local hunger and world hunger?

Explore these questions from a Christian perspective with others interested in alleviating hunger and promoting healthy diets throughout the world.

Marco A. Grimaldo

---

Marco Grimaldo has worked with non-profit organizations all of his career, equipping people to engage politicians and other decision makers to alleviate hunger and promote health care. He has been with Bread for the World for the past 14 years, currently serving as the regional organizer for the central and mid-Atlantic states. Marco is a graduate of Texas State University with additional studies at Georgetown University. Marco is a native Texan and a Presbyterian elder.

FOOD, INC. the movie

In FOOD, INC., filmmaker Robert Kenner lifts the veil on our nation's food industry, exposing the highly mechanized underbelly that has been hidden from the American consumer with the consent of our government's regulatory agencies, USDA and FDA.

Our nation's food supply is now controlled by a handful of corporations that often put profit ahead of consumer health, the livelihood of the American farmer, the safety of workers and our own environment.

We have bigger-breasted chickens, the perfect pork chop, herbicide-resistant soybean seeds, even tomatoes that won't go bad, but we also have new strains of E. coli – the harmful bacteria that causes illness for an estimated 73,000 Americans annually.

We are riddled with widespread obesity, particularly among children, and an epidemic level of diabetes among adults.
